

Interdisciplinary Futures: Open the Social Sciences 20 Years Later
Lisbon, Portugal 19-20 January 2017

Thursday 19th January

08:30-09:00 Registration

09:00-09:30 Opening words
FCG, Olivia Bina, Marta Varanda, Uskali Mäki

9:30-10:30 Immanuel Wallerstein
Forty Years Later: Are the Social Sciences More Open?

10:30-10:45 Coffee & Tea

10:45-12:15

Auditorium 3 Session 1. The Gulbenkian Report, Disciplinary Boundaries and the Social Sciences Christian Dayé and Christian Fleck: After the Death of Progress: What drives the Social Sciences? Gianluca Pozzoni: Beyond scientific parochialism: A post-positivist approach to the disciplinary divide David Byrne: Open the Social Sciences - the Applied fields of social science	Sala 2 Session 2. Interdisciplinary Research – Cultural Paradigms of Interdisciplinarity Maria Jose Haro Sly, Julien Demelenne and Eric Mielants: Latin-American “Buen Vivir/Good Living” contributions to opening the Social Sciences. Comments on the longue duree rigidity of social science disciplines. Czarina Saloma-Akpedonu: Opening the Social Sciences to Problem-Solving Mode: The Challenge of Being Critical and Pragmatic Manuela Guilherme: Plurilingualism, intercultural communication/interaction and intercultural epistemological translation: A study with Social Sciences and Life Sciences research groups in Brazil
Sala 1 Special Session on SSH and ID in EU Research: Session 1 – Invited speakers to discuss the status and challenges of SSH and interdisciplinarity in EU Funding Keynotes by Peter Fisch (EU), Angela Liberatore (ERC, EC), Rosario Macario (IST, ULisboa)

12:15-13:15 Lunch

13:15-14:45

Auditorium 3 Session 3. Deflating Disciplinary Boundaries Sabine Maasen and Martina Merz: The Dynamics of Transversal Research Fields: Applying STS to STS Chris Bissel: Convergence of the history and sociology of technology from the mid-1980s Emile Gayoso: The naturalization of social sciences: a case study on semantic social networks analysis	Sala 2 Session 4. The Social Sciences and their Epistemological and Ontological Shifts Jorge Correia Jesuino: Mediations Klaus Gärtner: Cognitive Sciences and Their Epistemological and Ontological Shifts Diogo Silva da Cunha: Communication Models, Communication Paradigms and Disciplinary Dialogue Olga Pombo: Observations on Past, Present and Future Main Determinations of ID
Sala 1 Special Session on SSH and ID in EU Research: Session 2 – Presentation and debate of LERU report on ID and DG R&I report on SSH in H2020 Keynotes by Katrien Maes (LERU) and Philippe Keraudren (DG R&I) Discussant: Doris Alexander, Research Development Office, Trinity College Dublin

14:45-15:00 Tea & Coffee

15:00-16:30

Auditorium 3 Session 5. Disciplines and Interdisciplinarity Tomi Kokkonen and Magdalena Malecka: The distinction between epistemic and institutional notions of discipline and why it matters Mathias Siems: Mapping Legal Research: An Example of a Discipline between Social Sciences, Humanities and Practice Mikko Salmela and Uskali Mäki: Emotional tensions in interdisciplinary interaction	Sala 2 Session 6. ID Research and Civil Society Ursula Caser, Lia Vasconcelos and Filipa Ferro: The Procedural Demand for an Iterative Design of Multi-Actor Engagement Processes Ana M. Vara: Theoretical imagination and social protest—or how to make social theory out of a collective action framework: a view from Latin America Lucas Czarnecki: Interdisciplinary perspectives on inequality and poverty. From academia to social public policy in Mexico
Sala 1 Special Session on SSH and ID in EU Research: Session 3 – Three break-out groups from the session's participants will identify questions and recommendations for the future treatment of SSH and interdisciplinarity in EU programming

16:30-17:00 Tea & Coffee

17:00-18:00 Björn Wittrock
Social Sciences In Their Contexts: Five Transformative Periods

19:00 Conference Dinner

Friday 20th January

09:00-10:00 Felicity Callard
The Social Sciences, Life Sciences and Humanities: Shifting Plate Tectonics

10:00-10:15 Coffee & Tea

10:15-11:45

Auditorium 3 Session 7. Interdisciplinary Collaboration Miles MacLeod and Michiru Nagatsu: When might ID collaboration work in the Environmental Sciences: Models from Philosophy of Science Alkistis Elliott-Graves: Walking the line: when disciplinary boundaries are good for interdisciplinarity Henrik Thorén and Johannes Persson: Social Sciences for Sustainability? Bridges and Boundaries	Sala 2 Session 8. Governing Interdisciplinarity Violeta Argudo Portal: Scaling up research infrastructures: bioinformatics and social sciences Maureen Burgess and Doris Alexander: Fulfilling the promise of IDR-Overcoming the barriers Roderick Lawrence: Interdisciplinary Futures: Beyond Claims, Conjectures and Contradictions
--	---

11:45-12:00 Coffee & Tea

12:00-13:30

Auditorium 3 Session 9. Interdisciplinary Explanation Virginia Ghiara: Big data for mechanistic explanations Menno Rol: How to build a scientific memory in social policy Federico Brandmayr: The social consequences of explaining human behaviour: strains between the institutions of causal connection and responsible action in contemporary France	Sala 2 Session 10. Interdisciplinary research policies Catherine Lyall: Policy responses to Open the Social Sciences? Mixed messages for the academic community Bianca Vienni Baptista: Cultural configurations and institutional conditions of inter- and transdisciplinary knowledge production at universities Barbara Hoenig: European research funding, frontier research, and unintended consequences of interdisciplinarity in the social sciences
--	---

13:30-14:30 Lunch

14:30-16:00

Auditorium 3 Session 11. Using Data in ID Research Chiara Carrozza: Re-conceptualizing social research in the 'digital era'. Issues of scholarships, methods and epistemologies Patricia Ferreira Lopes and Francisco Pinto Puerto: The interdisciplinary study of Late Gothic heritage through the application of data technologies. Tanya Araujo and Elsa Fontaine: The specific shapes of gender imbalance in scientific authorships: a network approach	Sala 1 Special Session: SSH and interdisciplinarity in Portuguese Research: Panel José Luís Cardoso (ICS - ULisboa) Elsa Peralta (Centro de Estudos comparatistas - ULisboa) Helena Sousa (ICS - U Minho) Maria Paula Meneses (CES U Coimbra) Rui Santos (FCSH- UNL)
---	---

16:00-16:30 Tea & Coffee

16:30-17:30 Stephen Turner
Digitalization and Disciplinarity: What Does "Open Science" Mean for Social Science?

17:30-18:00 Closing panel
Immanuel Wallerstein, Björn Wittrock, Felicity Callard, Stephen Turner